Purpose

The Cookson Hills Center is a project of the United Methodist Church. It is a rural mission program in Northeastern Oklahoma that is a joint effort of the Oklahoma Conference, the Oklahoma Indian Missionary Conference, the United Methodist Women and the General Board of Global Ministries. All of the above groups are the basic means of financial support of the programs provided by the Center.

Your support of the ministry at the Cookson Hills Center is one of the many ways that we as a church reach out to persons in need. Our Mission Statement: It is our command from the Gospel to care for those who are hungry, homeless, naked, persecuted, and without the presence of the saving grace of Christ in their lives. Because we follow the example of Christ to go to those who are in need, Cookson Hills Center carries forth the ministry of Jesus Christ.

The Cookson Hills Center has been a very significant part of the mission work of the United Methodist Women in Oklahoma since 1948. The presence of the United Methodists among rural low-income people in Northeastern Oklahoma has shown an important aspect of the way we care for others as concerned Christian people. The primary target groups of the center's services are Native American people, most being of the Cherokee tribe.

INSPIRING GOLF IN A TRULY MEMORABLE SETTING

Sculpted from the rolling hills of Broken Arrow, The Golf Club of Oklahoma's spectacular par-72, 6,840-yard championship layout was designed by renowned golf course architect Tom Fazio to blend harmoniously with its pristine natural surroundings. Lush stands of towering oaks traverse winding fairways leading to manicured greens, with a 32-acre spring-fed lake adding to the course's strategic diversity as well as its stunning natural beauty. Multiple tees on each enable golfers of all abilities to enjoy this challenging but fair golf gem.
